Program

TARGET AUDIENCE: ALL FRENCH IMMERSION, FSL, EAL, SECOND LANGUAGE TEACHERS AND COORDINATORS ARE ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND

This session will draw on a variety of research strands to support recommendations of teaching practices and learning activities that facilitate inclusion of language learners. Whether the language learners are newcomers in content classrooms or students looking to add to their language skills through second language study, this session will provide concrete ideas for how to effectively respond to these students' needs in the context of a larger class.

Presenters

Dr. Katy Arnett

is a faculty member at St. Mary's College of Maryland, where she is a Professor and Director of Teacher Education. She holds an M.A. and Ph.D. from OISE/UT. A former high school French teacher and Fulbright Scholar, Katy has focused much of her work as a scholar on accessible second language learning, seeking research and writing opportunities that allow her to help teachers make their second language learning settings as inclusive as possible. She is also the author of*Languages for all*: How to support and challenge students in a second language classroom (Pearson Canada, 2013) and co-senior author of Point de Connexion (Pearson Canada, 2015). For over a decade, she has designed and led over 100 workshops on inclusive second language teaching across Canada. She is an Honorary Research Associate at the Second Language Research Institute of Canada at the University of New Brunswick.
