Program

TARGET AUDIENCE: K-12 TEACHERS, ADMINISTRATORS, DIVERSE LEARNING LEADERS ARE ENCOURAGED TO ATTEND

Our communities, our schools and our classrooms are experiencing a rich composition of culturally diverse learners. These learners are presenting us with unique approaches to explore teaching and learning that is mutually exclusive and dynamic to both learner and teacher.

In order to foster the success and to engage culturally diverse learners, we have to learn how to effectively interact and to create supportive schools and classroom communities that will be conducive to learning.

This workshop explores the overall concept of developing cultural awareness, competencies and practices to enable practitioners to interact effectively with others from different cultures. This workshop will provide participants the opportunity to:

- Develop current cultural awareness and competencies by having participants examine their own cultural beliefs and attitudes, and their school community.
- Increase understandings about some of the barriers and challenges immigrant families encounter to integration.
- Explore strategies in building culturally responsive teaching, creating inclusive classroom/school wide communities and supporting positive cultural identities.

Participants learn how to develop greater self- understanding, reflectivity, capacity to become more conscious and culturally responsive of the dynamics of intercultural interactions.

The presentation covers topics such as:

- what is culture?
- cultural dimensions
- communicating across cultures
- integration and barriers for integration
- enhancing cultural competency
- culturally responsive teaching & creating culturally inclusive classrooms / school communities

This learning opportunity is being offered through curriculum implementation funding from Alberta Education.
